

Announcing the Official Launch of Dandelions for Dinner
by Sam P. Stamatis and
Peter S. Stamatis

“It is a must reading for anyone interested in the struggles and sacrifices of the Greek people to save their nation from totalitarianism and to secure for their children the freedom and democracy their ancestors bequeathed to the world.”

—Nicholas Gage

Please join us at the National Hellenic Museum
Thursday, February 23 at 6:30 p.m.
to celebrate the release of Dandelions for Dinner: Greece at War and a Family's Dream of America.

Meet the authors as they tell a family's story of hope and survival.
Q&A and book signing will follow.
Light refreshments will be served.

The National Hellenic Museum is located at 333 S. Halsted Street, Chicago, IL 60661